PREPARING FOR COUNTY MATCH

Children All over the County Eager for the Big Test for which they have been Preparing. Finals in Court House Next Week.

Several thousand school children in Adams County are just now at their keenest edge in preparation for the preliminary spelling contest which is booked for this coming Saturday. In every school district of the county the tests will be held and the best spellers selected to come to the final spelling bee in the Court House on Saturday, March 21.

For months the pupils have been working and working over the little pink book containing a list of a thousand words prepared by County Superintendent H. Milton Roth with the assistance of the teachers of the county, and it is whispered that scores of the children have mastered the book so thoroughly that they are absolutely sure not to miss a single word unless their memories should play them some unexpected trick and fail them at the critical moment.

In the preliminary contest on Saturday of this week the committee of teachers for each district will select one hundred words from the list and will test out the pupils on them. Every pupil spelling correctly ninety five or more of these hundred words will be eligible to enter the contest at Gettysburg on the following Saturday and, taking into account the careful study which has been given, it is confidently expected that several hundred of these good spellers will appear at the Court House for the final test.

At this big contest in Gettysburg, which will start at half past one in the afternoon and be open to the public, the thousand word list will again be used as a starter. The older people may expect to see some expert spelling from the youngsters and County Superintendent Roth realizes that the charges of the various teachers will give a good account of themselves.

The keen interest which the contest has aroused is very gratifying to all the school authorities and a full house may be counted on for the big test in the Court House on Saturday of next week.

U. B. REVIVAL

Eleven More Decisions at Revival on Wednesday Evening.

Another successful meeting was held at the United Brethren church Wednesday evening. The meetings will continue each evening during this week. The Rev. Dr. Washinger, District Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Conference, Chambersburg, will preach the sermon Saturday evening, also twice on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Crabill preached the sermon Wednesday, dwelling on the vows made to God, putting emphasis upon the filling of those vows now before God enters into judgment with us. Rev. Mr. Crabill will preach this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

TWELVE DEER KILLED BY DOGS

Hunters Fear Serious Results if Deer Running by Dogs on South Mountain is not Stopped. Twelve at least Killed this Winter.

Since the first January snowfall not less than a dozen deer have been run down and killed within a radius of eight miles from Caledonia park. This is appalling and means, in the long continuance of weather conditions as now existing, the quick extinction of the deer in that section if drastic measures are not immediately taken to hunt down and slay the dogs.

Sunday night about midnight dogs attacked and killed a doe along Carbaugh run within a hundred yards of the home of the Misses Dock on little Graeffenburg. Tuesday morning when Charles C. Reber, of Fayetteville, passed along the turnpike in a sleigh near Caledonia station a deer, dragging its hind feet, crossed the roadway and passed up the mountain spur. Looking back a few minutes later Mr. Reber saw two big dogs in close pursuit. He is confident that the dogs got their quarry.

In many instances the dogs simply ran the deer to death and left without devouring the meat. In the case of a deer driven to death, within a week, near Newman's along the turnpike on the South Mountain the dogs ate the carcass and carried the hide to the roadway.

The conditions are now peculiarly favorable to the dogs. In many parts of the mountain the snow is from a foot to a foot and a half deep. The dogs can easily walk on the crust. The deer sinks in to the knees, cuts itself, and is soon exhausted. Once the dogs start the animal running, they have it. The instinctive fort of safety for a chased deer is a running stream. Here the wild animal may evade and defend itself while the hounds are helpless. But now the streams are ice-rimmed and the affrighted deer finds itself stalled at the water edge.

The state game authorities need to take prompt action.

RADICAL CHANGES IN MANAGEMENT

Merrick to be Dropped as General Manager of the Western Maryland. Other Changes Likely to be Made by New Head.

Bearing out the rumors that, with the advent of Carl R. Gray to the presidency of the Western Maryland Railway Company, succeeding J. M. Fitzgerald, there would be many important changes in the operating staff of the road, comes the news that S. Ennes, division superintendent of the Great Northern Railroad, had been appointed general superintendent of the Western Maryland.

A. R. Merrick, at present general superintendent of the Western Maryland, who was brought from Michigan to the local road by President Fitzgerald, was asked about the change. "I have not been informed of any such change," said Mr. Merrick. "In fact, the news is rather surprising to me."

Asked if he had any plans for the future, Mr. Merrick said that he had intended remaining in Baltimore, but, if the report that he had been supplanted by Mr. Ennes were true, he would, of course, have to change these plans.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Western Maryland in New York Tuesday, Mr. Gray was formally inducted into the offices of president of the road and chairman of the board of directors.

The news that Mr. Merrick has been supplemented as general superintendent of the Western Maryland; bearing out, as it does, the rumors that Mr. Gray would make many changes in the operating staff, makes certain the belief that other changes will be made.

Mr. Fitzgerald issued the following bulletin to all employees of the road: "I take this opportunity of assuring all employees of this company of my sincere appreciation of the splendid manner in which they have stood by me during the time I have served as the chief executive officer of this property—a transition period surrounded by operating difficulties that at times seemed almost insurmountable, and I bespeak for my successor, Mr. Carl R. Gray, that same energy and loyalty with which you have given support to my administration. (Signed) J. M. FITZGERALD.

This is the first time Mr. Fitzgerald has broken his silence since the news of his resignation from the Western Maryland was made public. It is believed that he will remain with the Western Maryland, and the part of this statement in which he bespeaks loyalty for the new administration is taken as an indication that he will be retained.

ODD FELLOWS' REUNION

Complete Arrangements for Event Have Not Yet Been Made.

The date and place for the next annual reunion of the Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania, Maryland, the Virginias and the District of Columbia have been fixed. The reunion will be held Thursday, August 6, at Pen Mar park. An effort was made to take the reunion to some other place than Pen Mar, this year, but it did not prove successful.

The first reunion of the Odd Fellows was held at Pen Mar and it has always since proved a very acceptable place. No arrangements have yet been made for speakers or music or any of the other features of the big event.

Many of these things will be decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee at Hagerstown on the occasion of the dedication of the new Odd Fellows temple in that place on April 13.

DEBATE

Gettysburg and Bucknell Divide Debate on Heavy Question.

The debate between Gettysburg and Bucknell Tuesday night resulted in a tie, Gettysburg winning here while Bucknell received the decision at Lewisburg. The sides were reversed at the two places. The subject for argument was:

"Resolved, that there should be a national board of arbitration with jurisdiction over all disagreements between employers engaged in interstate business and their employees."

The original is in London, never having been brought to this country, during the life of either General Washington or his wife. The second portrait is a copy of the portrait of Mary Ball, mother of Washington, painted by Captain Middleton, stationed with his command in Virginia about 1740. The third portrait is of Mary Ball after her marriage. It is a copy of the portrait painted in America a few years before her death. All three paintings are the property of T. T. The fig tree sold at the recent sale of F. H. Weigel in Huntington township brought 25 cents, the purchaser being Charles Pifer. Two pairs of old fashioned tinner bells brought $5.00 a set.

At the recent sale of Martin Glatfelter in Huntington township a horse was bid up to 75 cents but the owner concluded that the animal was worth more than that even if it only had three fairly good legs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Luther Myers, of York, were recent guests of J. T. Myers.

Joseph L. Lerew spent last week at York, where he was securing instructions in automobile repair work.

RADICAL CHANGES IN MANAGEMENT

Merrick to be Dropped as General Manager of the Western Maryland. Other Changes Likely to be Made by New Head.

Bearing out the rumors that, with the advent of Carl R. Gray to the presidency of the Western Maryland Railway Company, succeeding J. M. Fitzgerald, there would be many important changes in the operating staff of the road, comes the news that S.
Ennes, division superintendent of the Great Northern Railroad, had been appointed general superintendent of the Western Maryland.

A. R. Merrick, at present general superintendent of the Western Maryland, who was brought from Michigan to the local road by President Fitzgerald, was asked about the change.

"I have not been informed of any such change," said Mr. Merrick. "In fact, the news is rather surprising to me."

Asked if he had any plans for the future, Mr. Merrick said that he had intended remaining in Baltimore, but, if the report that he had been succeeded by Mr. Ennes were true, he would, of course, have to change these plans.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Western Maryland in New York Tuesday, Mr. Gray was formally inducted into the offices of president of the road and chairman of the board of directors.

The news that Mr. Merrick has been supplemented as general superintendent of the Western Maryland, bearing out, as it does, the rumors that Mr.
Gray would make many changes in the operating staff, makes certain the belief that other changes will be made.

Mr. Fitzgerald issued the following bulletin to all employees of the road
"I take this opportunity of assuring all employees of this company of my sincere appreciation of the splendid manner in which they have stood by me during the time I have served as the chief executive officer of this property—a transition period surrounded by operating difficulties that at times seemed almost insurmountable, and I bespeak for my successor, Mr. Carl R.
Gray, that same energy and loyalty with which you have given support to my administration.
(Signed) J. M. FITZGERALD.

This is the first time Mr. Fitzgerald has broken his silence since the news of his resignation from the Western Maryland was made public. It is believed that he will remain with the Western Maryland, and the part of this statement in which he bespeaks loyalty for the new administration is taken as an indication that he will be retained.

ODD FELLOWS' REUNION

Complete Arrangements for Event
Have Not Yet Been Made.

The date and place for the next annual reunion of the Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania, Maryland, the Virginias and the District of Columbia have been fixed. The reunion will be held Thursday, August 6, at Pen Mar park.
An effort was made to take the reunion to some other place than Pen Mar, this year, but it did not prove successful.

The first reunion of the Odd Fellows was held at Pen Mar and it has always since proved a very acceptable place.
No arrangements have yet been made for speakers or music or any of the other features of the big event.

Many of these things will be decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee at Hagerstown on the occasion of the dedication of the new Odd Fellows temple in that place on April 13.

DEBATE

Gettysburg and Bucknell Divide Debate on Heavy Question.

The debate between Gettysburg and Bucknell Tuesday night resulted in a tie, Gettysburg winning here while Bucknell received the decision at Lewisburg. The sides were reversed at the two places. The subject for argument was:

"Resolved, that there should be a national board of arbitration with jurisdiction over all disagreements between employers engaged in interstate business and their employees."

INTERESTING PORTRAITS

Three Oil Portraits of Washington and his Mother.

Three interesting oil paintings are on display in the windows of the Stall-smith news stand. The one is a copy of the portrait of George Washington, painted at Mount Vernon in 1786 by Sharpless, the famous English artist who was a guest of the Washingtons at that time. The original is in London, never having been brought to this country, during the life of either General Washington or his wife. The second portrait is a copy of the portrait of Mary Ball, mother of Washington, painted by Captain Middleton, stationed with his command in Virginia about 1740. The third portrait is of Mary Ball after her marriage. It is a copy of the portrait painted in America a few years before her death. All three paintings are the property of T. T.
Fryer, of Baltimore street.

YORK SPRINGS

York Springs—An effort is now being made to organize an order of Red Men in York Springs. About twenty five names have been secured for membership.

Wesley McCans, the well known plasterer, last week lost his valuable driving horse. Mr. McCans had purchased the animal about eighteen months ago from William Davis, of York Springs, and recently refused an offer of $300 for it.

The fig tree sold at the recent sale of F. H. Weigel in Huntington township brought 25 cents, the purchaser being Charles Pifer. Two pairs of old fashioned team bells brought $5.00 a set.

At the recent sale of Martin Glad-felter in Huntington township a horse was bid up to 75 cents but the owner concluded that the animal was worth more than that even if it only had three fairly good legs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Luther Myers, of York, were recent guests of J. T.
Myers.

Joseph L. Lerew spent last week at York, where he was securing instructions in automobile repair work.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Gardner and son, Harold, have returned from a visit to Mr. and Mrs. William H.
Gardner, of Philadelphia. Mr. Gardner expects to leave for his wheat ranch at Withrow, Washington about March 16th.

The Hanover degree team of the Knights of the Maccabees initiate a class of six young men into the mysteries of the order and made them members of the local tent at the regular meeting held here on Tuesday evening.

with a severe attack of gripe.

Sherman Sites Jr. visited Walter Kogler on Sunday.

The recent storm that passed over this section badly damaged the "Lower Tract" school house by blowing in the gable end of brick and blowing off the roof. Fortunately school was not in session or many lives would have been lost. One of the large chimneys on the house of W. R. White was blown over, falling on the porch roof damaging it somewhat. The storm also overturned the silo of J. B. and J. H. Pecher and blew off part of the barn roof.

1600 U.S. TROOPS ADDED TO PATROL

Hurried to Mexican Frontier to Prevent Raids by Texans.

PROTESTS BRING RESULTS

Rebels and Federals Give Assurances Lives and Property of Foreigners
Will Be Protected.

Washington, March 12.—Two regiments of infantry, the Ninth and the Seventeenth were ordered to proceed to the Mexican border to strengthen the patrol of the frontier. The two regiments have about 1600 men.

The object of this addition to the United States forces on the frontier, it was said, was to prevent any raids into Mexico such as are feared may follow the successful raid to recover the body of Clemente Vergara, the American slain by Federals near Hidalgo.

The action was taken by the president at the request of several Texas congressmen. It is understood that they will be distributed along the border, ready to head off any hot-headed Texans, who may organize and raid to avenge reported deaths of friends.

All the detachments have orders to get under way for Texas with the least possible delay. Both regiments will take heavy marching equipment and practically will be prepared for war as soon as they reach Texas.

Representative Ainey, of Pennsylvania, who has attacked the administration's policy, when informed of the president's action, said:

"It seems like the administration is more concerned over the situation in Texas than in Mexico. I don't see why troops have been rushed to Texas when outrages in Mexico have gone unnoticed."

Consul Simpich, at Nogales, reported to the state department that he had assurances from General Carranza that lives and properties of Americans and other foreigners would be protected and that all molestation of foreigners would be availed throughout the Nogales district in Mexico.

Carranza, who is "first chief" of the Constitutionalists, issued the orders upon Simpich's protest, under instructions from Secretary Bryan, against rebel depredations on George Beveridge's ranch and the Ganahi Hacienda. Carranza has promised also that there will be no more assaults like that on the son of Silas King at Caco.

The Mexican Federal authorities at Tampico have promised the immediate release of an American named Byrd, held near that city.

Consul Fletcher, at Chihuahua, reported that the threatened seizure of the ranch of W. D. Smyman, a British subject, has been satisfactorily settled by an appeal to the chief state authorities of Chihuahua.

The most positive stand yet taken by the government in connection with the killing of an American citizen in Mexico was set forth in a telegram sent by Secretary Bryan to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires in Mexico City.

In this dispatch Secretary Bryan directed O'Shaughnessy to demand that the Huerta government apprehend and punish the persons responsible for the death of Vergara.

Bryan instructed O'Shaughnessy to call the attention of the Mexican government to evidence submitted by Alonzo Garrett, consul at Nueva Laredo, that Vergara had been murdered in Mexico. O'Shaughnessy was instructed also to say that all evidence at hand indicated that Vergara had been slain by soldiers of the Federal army.

This action by the secretary of state followed the receipt of the telegram from Garrett and General Bliss, telling of the recovery of Vergara's body by Vergara's relatives and of what the official examination of the body revealed.

ARGENTINA WON'T INTERFERE

Rumors of Such Action Are Denied by Vice President.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, March 12.—Dr. V. De La Plaza, vice president of the republic, instructed Minister of Foreign Affairs Murature to publish broadcast a declaration denying rumors that it is the purpose of Argentina to intervene in Mexico.

The declaration says nothing could be done to disturb the friendly feeling existing between Argentina and Mexico. Argentina looks upon political abstention in such cases, the statement continues, as the only course compatible with the sovereignty of countries convulsed in internal strife.

COLQUITT IS DEFIANT

Says Texas Will "Deal Directly With Mexico."

Fort Worth, Tex., March 12.—Governor Colquitt, addressing the Texas Cattle Raisers' association here, declared:

"I defy any authority on the face of the earth, Washington included, to prevent me from protecting our citizens along the border. It is only the inherent right of self-defense. Whenever the situation demands I will deal directly with Mexico in righting wrongs and not wait for the federal government, which seems to stand in fear."

"You can't expect the United States soldiers to cross the border for thieves and murderers, oh, no; but the Texas Rangers can do it. The federal government has not once assisted any citizens along the Rio Grande when they appealed for aid, except when it was too late."

"The Democratic party is drunk with power. Congressmen and senators have become cowards for political pelf and patronage. Not one thus far has enough nerve to stand up and defend Texas."

BODY BURIED THREE YEARS NOT FATHER'S

Children Hear From Parent
They Believed Dead.

York, Pa., March 12.—Charles N. Kling, of Bittersville, York county, left home three years ago, leaving his wife and eight children.

Shortly afterwards word was received by the family that he had been killed on the Pennsylvania railroad near Harrisburg and that the body had been interred at Camp Hill.

Nine months afterwards his two sons, Monroe C. Kling, a cigar manufacturer, and Samuel C. Kling, had the body exhumed and brought to Red Lion from Camp Hill. It was taken to Salem cemetery and buried.

On Wednesday Monroe C. Kling received word from Akron, Ohio, that the father was alive and in that city. A correspondence has been started, and it is more than likely that the father will return in a short time. Where body was buried for that of Charles N. Kling is a mystery.

WILLING TO END COPPER STRIKE

Miners' Chief Put Lock-Out
Up to Men.

FAVORS REFERENDUM VOTE

Michigan Companies Are Ready to Give Workers Jobs Provided They Surrender Union Cards.

Chicago, March 12.—After almost a year of what virtually amounted to civil war, the big copper strike in Michigan and the west is closer to an end than at any time since the men walked out.

It has been a desperate struggle entailing much suffering, a heavy money loss on both sides and has even involved congress.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation, declared:

"We will sanction the calling off of the copper miners' strike if the men themselves want to do it."

Moyer, though, recommends a referendum vote to learn if the strikers desire to waive their demand for recognition of the union, to surrender their cards and thus win work.

The men could make their individual terms with the mining companies, said Moyer. As far as the Western Federation was concerned, he declared, that organization was willing to accept the changes in working conditions the companies have made since the strike and would be content to have the strikers return with the understanding that they could go without prejudice.

Allen F. Rees, senior counsel for the companies, said the men would be taken back without prejudice, provided they surrender their union cards. Places will be found for all except those who engaged in acts of violence.

"We will start with a clean slate," declared another attorney for the operators, who has been in Chicago attending the congressional hearings.

That there will be a referendum vote seemed assured when a message was received from William Rickard, head of the Calumet union, agreeing to the proposal.

The strike started July 23, 1913.

STATE TO PROVIDE JOBS

New York Will Carry Idle Men to the Places Where Labor Is in Demand.

New York, March 12.—Governor Glynn's plan for reducing the number of unemployed in New York city by deporting men out of work into the country, where labor is in demand, was put into operation here for the first time today by C. W. Larnon, deputy state commissioner of agriculture.

After the first two or three shipments it will be possible, in the opinion of the state bureau, to arrive at some real estimate of the numerical strength of the unemployed class, and also to test the willingness of the unemployed as a class to go to work.

GETS LIFE TERM FOR ASSAULT

Wilmington Colored Man Sentenced
For Attack on One of Own Race.

Wilmington, Del., March 12.—Robert Rice, a young colored man, charged with felonious assault upon Lola Dailey, a colored girl, was convicted in the general sessions court and sentenced to life imprisonment.

The penalty for the crime is death, and the life of the man was saved by Deputy Attorney General Chaytor, who stated that the state was satisfied with a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.

The jury, without leaving the box, brought forth the verdict, after which the youth was sentenced.

Woman Burned in New York.

New York, March 12.—Fifty men, women and children were driven to the street in their night clothing, and one woman was fatally burned, in a fire in the six-story apartment house at 312 Ninety-third street. ## Fever Claims Fifth Child in Family.

Florence, N. J., March 12.—The epidemic of malignant scarlet fever has claimed its fifth juvenile victim in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah N. Carly, when Frederick, their six-year-old son, succumbed to the disease. Four other children of this family have died in the last fortnight, and a sixth, a ten-month-old infant, is not expected to survive another day.

Declares Consumer Pays.

Washington, March 12.—The burdens of the inflated working women's eight-hour law in the capital, already have been shifted to the consumers and employees, several witnesses told the senate labor committee, supporting Senator Kenyon's bill for an investigation of the cost of living. Wages have been reduced and prices have been raised, the witnesses said.

FIGHTS FOR COUPONS

United Cigar Stores Claim Sales
Would Fall If Practice Ceases.

Washington, March 12.—At a hearing before the house committee on ways and means on the Underwood bill to put a prohibitive tax on tobacco coupons, L. M. Strook, of New York, counsel for the United Cigar Stores company, testified that if the giving of coupons to tobacco users should be stopped there would be a falling off in the amount of tobacco used and that the revenues of the government would diminish.

He said that coupons given away for all kinds of products in this country represented $100,000,000 worth of goods, and that the tobacco coupons amounted to $7,000,000, of which, he said, the United Cigar Stores company disposes of $2,000,000 worth.

Mr. Strook showed that since the dissolution of the tobacco trust no financial or other interest has connected the United Cigar Stores company with any of the companies into which the trust had been divided.

Detailed lists of manufacturers from whom the stores bought goods were furnished, showing hundreds of independent concerns, with whom the stores did an aggregate business yearly of nearly $5,000,000.

SECRETARY REDFIELD SEES PROSPERITY

Belittles Calamity Howling Preceding Tariff Law.

Hartford, Conn., March 12.—Four hundred members and guests at the dinner and reception of the Connecticut Business Men's association, in the Hartford club, applauded Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield when he declared that since the passage of the Underwood tariff bill certain editors and speakers had been thoroughly refuted, and that there had been no signs of "flooded American markets with the products of the so-called pauper labor of Europe."

"At this time, when there is much ado about the unemployed," said the secretary, "it is within the line of truth to say that the labor situation is improved. Affairs in this respect are better than they were a month ago; very much better than sixty days back."

Secretary Redfield argued that foreign and domestic commerce cannot be separated, and that in dealing with Germany and England, our biggest competitors, the balance of trade is largely in our favor.

"An interesting fact for all Americans to know with confidence and honest pride," he continued, "is that in manufactures we have taken the front rank and that we have ceased to be chiefly a nation exporting grain and animal products."

"For a year and a half an even 60 per cent of our exports are manufactured goods, and the item of fully finished manufactures holds the front rank in that class. For the seven months since the new tariff law has controlled, the balance in our favor on merchandise transactions in foreign trade is in excess of $150,000,000."

1600 U.S. TROOPS ADDED TO PATROL

Hurried to Mexican Frontier to Prevent Raids by Texans.

PROTESTS BRING RESULTS

Rebels and Federal Give Assurances Lives and Property of Foreigners Will Be Protected.

Washington, March 12.—Two regiments of infantry, the Ninth and the Seventeenth were ordered to proceed to the Mexican border to strengthen the patrol of the frontier. The two regiments have about 1600 men.

The object of this addition to the United States forces on the frontier, it was said, was to prevent any raids into Mexico such as are feared may follow the successful raid to recover the body of Clemente Vergara, the American slain by Federalists near Hidalgo.

The action was taken by the president at the request of several Texas congressmen. It is understood that they will be distributed along the border, ready to head off any hot-headed Texans, who may organize and raid to avenge reported deaths of friends.

All the detachments have orders to get under way for Texas with the least possible delay. Both regiments will take heavy marching equipment and practically will be prepared for war as soon as they reach Texas.

Representative Ainey, of Pennsylvania, who has attacked the administration's policy, when informed of the president's action, said:

"It seems like the administration is more concerned over the situation in Texas than in Mexico. I don't see why troops have been rushed to Texas when outrages in Mexico have gone unnoticed."

Consul Simplich, at Nogales, reported to the state department that he had assurances from General Carranza that lives and properties of Americans and other foreigners would be protected and that all molestation of foreigners would be avoided throughout the Nogales district in Mexico.

Carranza, who is "first chief" of the Constitutionalists, issued the orders upon Simplich's protest, under instructions from Secretary Bryan, against rebel depredations on George Beveridge's ranch and the Ganahí Hacienda. Carranza has promised also that there will be no more assaults like that on the son of Silas King at Caco.

The Mexican Federal authorities at Tampico have promised the immediate release of an American named Byrd, held near that city.

Consul Letcher, at Chihuahua, reported that the threatened seizure of the ranch of W. D. Snyman, a British subject, has been satisfactorily settled by an appeal to the chief state authorities of Chihuahua.

The most positive stand yet taken by the government in connection with the killing of an American citizen in Mexico was set forth in a telegram sent by Secretary Bryan to Nelson O'Shaughnessy, charge d'affaires in Mexico City.

In this dispatch Secretary Bryan directed O'Shaughnessy to demand that the Huerta government apprehend and punish the persons responsible for the death of Vergara.

Bryan instructed O'Shaughnessy to call the attention of the Mexican government to evidence submitted by Alonzo Garrett, consul at Nueva Laredo, that Vergara had been murdered in Mexico. O'Shaughnessy was instructed also to say that all evidence at hand indicated that Vergara had been slain by soldiers of the Federal army.

This action by the secretary of state followed the receipt of the telegrams from Garrett and General Bliss, telling of the recovery of Vergara's body by Vergara's relatives and of what the official examination of the body revealed.

ARGENTINA WON'T INTERFERE

Rumors of Such Action Are Denied by Vice President.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, March 12.—Dr. V. De La Plaza, vice president of the republic, instructed Minister of Foreign Affairs Murature to publish broadcast a declaration denying rumors that it is the purpose of Argentina to intervene in Mexico.

The declaration says nothing could be done to disturb the friendly feeling existing between Argentina and Mexico. Argentina looks upon political abstention in such cases, the statement continues, as the only course compatible with the sovereignty of countries convulsed in internal strife.

COLQUITT IS DEFIANT

Says Texas Will "Deal Directly With Mexico."

Fort Worth, Tex., March 12.—Governor Colquitt, addressing the Texas Cattle Raisers' association here, declared:

"I defy any authority on the face of the earth, Washington included, to prevent me from protecting our citizens along the border. It is only the inherent right of self-defense. Whenever the situation demands I will deal directly with Mexico in righting wrongs and not wait for the federal government, which seems to stand in fear."

"You can't expect the United States soldiers to cross the border for thieves and murderers, oh, no; but the Texas Rangers can do it. The federal government has not once assisted any citizens along the Rio Grande when they appealed for aid, except when it was too late."

"The Democratic party is drunk with power. Congressmen and senators have become cowards for political pelf and patronage. Not one thus far has enough nerve to stand up and defend Texas."

BODY BURIED THREE YEARS NOT FATHER'S

Children Hear From Parent They Believed Dead.

York, Pa., March 12.—Charles N. Kling, of Bittersville, York county, left home three years ago, leaving his wife and eight children.

Shortly afterwards word was received by the family that he had been killed on the Pennsylvania railroad near Harrisburg and that the body had been interred at Camp Hill.

Nine months afterwards his two sons, Monroe C. Kling, a cigar manufacturer, and Samuel C. Kling, had the body exhumed and brought to Red Lion from Camp Hill. It was taken to Salem cemetery and buried.

On Wednesday Monroe C. Kling received word from Akron, Ohio, that the father was alive and in that city. A correspondence has been started, and it is more than likely that the father will return in a short time. Whose body was buried for that of Charles N. Kling is a mystery.

WILLING TO END COPPER STRIKE

Miners' Chief Put Lock-Out Up to Men.

FAVORS REFERENDUM VOTE

Michigan Companies Are Ready to Give Workers Jobs Provided They Surrender Union Cards.

Chicago, March 12.—After almost a year of what virtually amounted to civil war, the big copper strike in Michigan and the west is closer to an end than at any time since the men walked out.

It has been a desperate struggle, entailing much suffering, a heavy money loss on both sides and has even involved congress.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation, declared:

"We will sanction the calling off of the copper miners' strike if the men themselves want to do it."

Moyer, though, recommends a referendum vote to learn if the strikers desire to waive their demand for recognition of the union, to surrender their cards and thus win work.

The men could make their individual terms with the mining companies, said Moyer. As far as the Western Federation was concerned, he declared, that organization was willing to accept the changes in working conditions the companies have made since the strike and would be content to have the strikers return with the understanding that they could go without prejudice.

Allen F. Rees, senior counsel for the companies, said the men would be taken back without prejudice, provided they surrender their union cards. Places will be found for all except those who engaged in acts of violence.

"We will start with a clean slate," declared another attorney for the operators, who has been in Chicago attending the congressional hearings.

That there will be a referendum vote seemed assured when a message was received from William Rickard, head of the Calumet union, agreeing to the proposal.

The strike started July 23, 1913.

STATE TO PROVIDE JOBS

New York Will Carry Idle Men to the Places Where Labor Is in Demand.

New York, March 12.—Governor Glynn's plan for reducing the number of unemployed in New York city by deporting men out of work into the country, where labor is in demand, was put into operation here for the first time today by C. W. Larmon, deputy state commissioner of agriculture.

After the first two or three shipments it will be possible, in the opinion of the state bureau, to arrive at some real estimate of the numerical strength of the unemployed class, and also to test the willingness of the unemployed as a class to go to work.

GETS LIFE TERM FOR ASSAULT

Wilmington Colored Man Sentenced For Attack on One of Own Race.

The penalty for the crime is death, and the life of the man was saved by Deputy Attorney General Chaytor, who stated that the state was satisfied with a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.

The jury, without leaving the box, brought forth the verdict, after which the youth was sentenced.

Fever Claims Fifth Child in Family.

Florence, N. Y., March 12.—The epidemic of malignant scarlet fever has claimed its fifth juvenile victim in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah N. Cart, when Frederick, their six-year-old son, succumbed to the disease. Four other children of this family have died in the last fortnight, and a sixth, a two-month-old infant, is not expected to survive another day.

Washington, March 12.—The burden of the Labor-Labor working women's eight-hour law in the capital, at ready have been shifted to the consumers and employees, several witnesses told the senate labor committee, supporting Senator Kenyon's bill for an investigation of the cost of living. Wages have been reduced and prices have been raised, the witnesses said.

FIGHTS FOR COUPONS

United Cigar Stores Claim Sales Would Fall If Practice Ceases.

Washington, March 12.—At a hearing before the house committee on ways and means on the Underwood bill to put a prohibitive tax on tobacco coupons, L. M. Strook, of New York, counsel for the United Cigar Stores company, testified that if the giving of coupons to tobacco users should be stopped there would be a falling off in the amount of tobacco used and that the revenues of the government would diminish.

He said that coupons given away for all kinds of products in this country represented $100,000,000 worth of goods, and that the tobacco coupons amounted to $7,000,000, of which, he said, the United Cigar Stores company disposes of $2,000,000 worth.

Mr. Strook showed that since the dissolution of the tobacco trust no financial or other interest has connected the United Cigar Stores company with any of the companies into which the trust had been divided.

Detailed lists of manufacturers from whom the stores bought goods were furnished, showing hundreds of independent concerns, with whom the stores did an aggregate business yearly of nearly $5,000,000.

SECRETARY REDFIELD SEES PROSPERITY

Belittles Calamity Howling Preceding Tariff Law.

Hartford, Conn., March 12.—Four hundred members and guests at the dinner and reception of the Connecticut Business Men's association, in the Hartford club, applauded Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield when he declared that since the passage of the Underwood tariff bill certain editors and speakers had been thoroughly refuted, and that there had been no signs of "flooding American markets with the products of the so-called pauper labor of Europe."

"At this time, when there is much ado about the unemployed," said the secretary, "it is within the line of truth to say that the labor situation is improved. Affairs in this respect are better than they were a month ago; very much better than sixty days back."

Secretary Redfield argued that foreign and domestic commerce cannot be separated, and that in dealing with Germany and England, our biggest competitors, the balance of trade is largely in our favor.

"An interesting fact for all Americans to know with confidence and honest pride," he continued, "is that in manufactures we have taken the front rank and that we have ceased to be chiefly a nation exporting grain and animal products."

"For a year and a half an even 60 per cent of our exports are manufactured goods, and the item of fully finished manufactures holds the front rank in that class. For the seven months since the new tariff law has controlled, the balance in our favor on merchandise transactions in foreign trade is in excess of $450,000,000."

"Big business" is useful, but not essential in this. Banking capital in the foreign field is quite necessary and will be supplied under the new currency law.

SONIA MARANIEFF

By F. A. MITCHEL

The province of Vyatka, in Russia, borders on Siberia, and, though it is not quite so far north as St. Petersburg, it is rather a wild country. Near the center is a fine estate, in which on a piece of rising ground is a spacious residence. One day a lady rode out from this house on horseback. It was the spring of the year, and the winter had been cold. The lady had been told that wolves from the forests had been driven by hunger to seek food in the more civilized region, and she had pistols and holsters at the pommel of her saddle and a short rifle slung over her shoulder. Two servants, also armed, rode a short distance in her rear. She was going to visit a charitable institution in which she was interested.

During her return a sound of barking and shots was heard behind her, which drew rapidly nearer. Then a sleigh appeared, the driver lashing his horses to escape a pack of wolves. A man in the rear seat of the sleigh fired a shot at the brutes, then threw down his gun. It was evident that he had used his last cartridge. The equestrienne, supported by her servants, began firing at the wolves, which made off into the woods. Then the man in the sleigh thanked them for his life, and had it not been for their coming, in a few minutes more both he and his driver would have been devoured. Handing a card to the lady, leaving the name Count Boris Geronzky, he said:

"If you ever come to St. Petersburg please advise me. I trust I shall be able to make your visit there enjoyable."

When the lady read the name on the card the expression on her face changed, but the count, whose nerves had been severely taxed, felt a swimming sensation and did not notice the impression his name had created.

"You need rest and refreshment," she replied to his request. "We are not half a dozen versts from my house. If you will partake of my hospitality I will accept your invitation later, for I shall soon visit the capital."

The count visited her into his sleigh and together they rode to her home, where she entertained him at dinner. After which he proceeded on his journey.

Within a few months Count Geronzky received a card on which was the name of Sonia Maranieff, the lady who had saved him from the wolves. He called upon her and begged her to tell him in what way he could best make her visit to the capital enjoyable.

"I live on the edge of a wilderness," she replied, "and have never seen anything of life in a great city. I would like to be present at one of the functions given at the palace."

"You shall be present," the count answered, "not only at one function, but as many as you please. I am one of the emperor's privy council and am command appointed for the asking." Sonia Maranieff proved a great success in court society. Though she came from a wild country she was refined, and there was about her a greater freshness and ingenuousness than in the women of the city. Moreover, she was beautiful. Since she always gave her name as Sonia Maranieff it was supposed that she was unmarried. Many men strove to win her, but she seemed to prefer the attentions of him who had introduced her. Count Boris was devoted to her, but it was generally known that he was a married man and the Russian church does not admit of divorce.

There is a custom in Russia that a man of rank may marry a woman of wealth, giving her the right to bear his name and title for a consideration. Count Geronzky, on coming of age, found his paternal estate involved in debt. A career at court was open to him, but he must have means to achieve it. For 20,000 rubles he had given a wealthy woman the right to call herself Countess Geronzky. The marriage had been by proxy, and he had never seen his bride.

Those who noticed Count Boris' attention to Sonia Maranieff and to whom it was evident that he had fallen in love with her, knowing of his marriage, sympathized with him, for there was a certain dignity about this girl from a distant province, a chaste bearing, to make it evident that no man could possess her without making her his wife.

One evening when Sonia was dancing at the Winter palace a laker stepped up to her with a telegram on a silver which had been forwarded from her abode. She opened it, and it was evident that it contained some distressing news. She straightway left the room, and so absorbed was she that she dropped her telegram. A lady picked it up and read the address, "Countess Geronzky."

The incident was soon common talk. Geronzky was congratulated on his marriage with Sonia Maranieff and asked why he had not announced it. The count was astonished and when told of how Sonia had dropped the telegram sought her immediately. He found her in an apartment, waiting for her carriage.

"I learn," he said, "that you have received a telegram bearing my name and title. Are you not Sonia Maranieff?"

"I was Sonia Maranieff till I became the Countess Geronzky."

The countess had received news of the death of her mother. Her husband went home with her, and after that they lived as man and wife.

About the First Public Library. Colonel G. W. Goethals, Who Will Govern Canal Zone.

By American Press Association.

Plans for the organization of a permanent government on the Panama canal zone have been submitted to President Wilson by Colonel George W. Goethals, who made the trip to Washington for that purpose. The new government will come into existence on April 1 next, when Colonel Goethals takes the title of governor. The isthmian canal commission goes out of existence on that date by executive order and Colonel Goethals becomes the civil and administrative head of the zone. The term of office is four years and the salary $10,000. As chairman of the commission and chief engineer Colonel Goethals has been receiving a salary of $15,000.

The new governor is a plain, straightforward, clean living man, without any pretensions and no ambitions aside from a desire to do his full duty. He is a six-footer, ruddy, with snow white hair. His tastes are simple and money means little to him. He is a hard worker and a poor man. His name by the way, isn't George Washington Goethals. He was christened George William, but the late "Sunset" Cox, who appointed him to West Point, only had his initials, and he put the name down as George Washington. After the appointment was made the red tape of the army made it impossible to have the error corrected, so the George Washington has clung to Goethals. Colonel Goethals was born in Brooklyn, fifty-six years ago, and is of Dutch descent. He entered West Point in 1872, was graduated four years later and assigned to the corps of engineers. In 1907 he was appointed chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission.

Cool Strike Investigation. That the congressional subcommittee investigating the Colorado coal miners' strike is determined to get at the bottom facts is apparent. At the beginning of the hearing at Trinidad the subcommittee indicated that one of its chief purposes is to learn whether the constitution and laws of Colorado are fairly enforced and observed in the coal fields. The congressional subcommittee is composed of Representatives Martin D. Foster of Illinois, chairman; Howard Sutherland of West Virginia; R. W. Austin of Tennessee; J. M. Evans of Montana; and J. F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Congressman Evans, who has been very active in the investigation, is a native of Missouri, fifty-one years old and is a graduate of West Point Military academy and of the University of Missouri. Since 1898 he has practiced law at Missoula, Mont. For several years he was police judge of that city, and was largely instrumental in establishing commission government there. He was the first commission mayor elected in Montana.

How to Grow Tall. When the company grows weary of idle talk ask some of the boys if they wish to be instructed in the art of looking tall. It is a funny optical illusion that must be tried to be really realized or understood, yet it is very simple. It merely consists in raising the shoulders, and it is astonishing to see how the simple movement will add to the appearance of height.

FOR THE CHILDREN

An Intelligent Toad.

The United States department of agriculture has published a paper on the toad. It estimates that each saves to the farmer by eating the cutworms, which destroy the crops, about $20 every season.

Toads eat the common housefly, which is such an annoyance to us. A toad has been seen to snap up eighty-six flies in less than ten minutes.

Toads are sometimes kept for pets, and they are not lacking in intelligence. Once a toad lived in a garden, and every day at the dinner hour he came to be fed. It happened that the dinner hour was changed, and when the toad came there was nothing for him to eat. Mr. Toad made up his mind that he would not lose his dinner twice. On the second day he came at the new hour, and after this he was as punctual as the rest of the family. No one could tell how he knew that in the future his dinner would be served two hours earlier.

Adjectives—A Game.

The game of "adjectives" is good to fill in a half hour. Select one of the party to go out of the room. Then each person chooses an adjective, which he or she will represent, while the one outside comes in and asks questions, trying to determine the adjective being enacted. For instance, the interlocutor may say, "Did you have a happy vacation?" and the person who has chosen the word "happy" pours forth a perfect torrent of words, describing his vacation. To another person the question may be, "Do you like dancing?" The reply should come in tearful accents that parties always make him so weary and life is such a bore, at which he begins to weep. Of course the word is "sad." This may continue indefinitely, and if the company is a responsive one it is very amusing. After one person has guessed several adjectives have another one go out.

Divisions.

Divide a color in two and get a loud cry and not high. Divide to excavate in two and get beneath and a place where minerals are found.

Divide to dress in two and get a preposition and to weary.

Divide a maintenance in two and get to eat and a harbor.

Divide a trial in two and get a conjunction and a business transaction.

Divide a piece of jewelry in two and get a part of the body and work which is composed of fine threads.

Answers—Yellow—yellow. Undermine—undermine. Attire—attire. Support—support. Ordeal—ordel. Necklace—necklace.

World's Coldest Town.

Where the rivers freeze to the bottom and small trees snap off from the biting force of the cold stands the oldest inhabited city in the world—Verkhnyansk, in northeastern Siberia.

It is a place of some size, stands 150 feet above the sea level and in winter boasts of a temperature 53 degrees below zero. Its annual average temperature is 3 degrees above zero.

The Russian government owns the town and is interested in having an administrative center where clever and industrious Russians, far trading Jews of Siberia, carry on their operations.—American Woman.

A Strange Family.

An Indiana farmer reports an interesting case of affection between animals. When a horse of the farmer became affected with fodder poisoning recently a family cat became the companion of the sick animal. After the horse's death the cat refused to leave the stall the horse had occupied. Soon afterward it died, and the farmer expressed the belief that its death was caused by grief for the loss of its companion.

The Paper Knife.

Perhaps the earliest mention of a paper knife on record is that in Swift's work (1755): "I said to Lord Boringbroke that the clerks in his office used a sort of ivory knife with a blunt edge to divide a sheet of paper, which never failed to cut it even, only requiring a strong hand, whereas if they should make use of a sharp penknife the sharpness would make it often go out of the crease and denigrate the paper."

How to Grow Tall.

When the company grows weary of idle talk ask some of the boys if they wish to be instructed in the art of looking tall. It is a funny optical illusion that must be tried to be really realized or understood, yet it is very simple. It merely consists in raising the shoulders, and it is astonishing to see how the simple movement will add to the appearance of height.

Secret Places.

I think the faces made our house full of secrets. That one of a boy's best friends is his own shadow.

Burleson and His Fence.

When Postmaster General Burleson was a member of the house he rushed into his committee room one day and announced that he had at last obtained the iron fence around the old Pennsylvania station in Washington.

A cub reporter, who happened to be present, wrote a story about the fence and after stating the facts expressed the opinion that it would soon adorn one of the public parks in Burleson's district in Texas.

The Texas correspondents wired the story to their papers, and soon Burleson was deluged with telegrams.

Encountering the cub reporter, Burleson angrily demanded to know what he had written about the fence.

"What's the matter?" innocently asked the reporter.

"What's the matter?" shouted Burleson. "I paid $125 for that fence at public auction; I paid $100 to have it painted black and have the tops gilded; I paid $75 freight on it to my home in Austin, Tex., where it was to be placed on my home grounds. What's the matter? Why, now I've got to give the concerned thing away!" —Washington Star.

The Little Things of Life.

Around the little things of life. A world of storm and sunshine lies. Yet those too busy seldom see. The tired look in other eyes.

Around the little things of life. A wealth of loving memories center. And joys undreamed of by the world. The humblest dwelling places enter.

Around the little things of life. Connected by a thread so slender. Are long lost smiles and bygone tears. Which helped to make our hearts more tender.

Alas, how many things in life. Are those of which we cannot boast. Actions and words we think our best. How poor and weak they are at most!

More full of love, oh, may they be. Less full of self as in the past. Help us, dear Lord, to offer these. More perfect "little things" at last. —M. Wayman.

Took Him at His Word.

The late King Edward, who so highly appreciated wit, even when, as sometimes happened, the joke went against himself, was once very neatly "scored off" by a lady whom later he deservedly esteemed for her many good works. She had just been presented to him and was somewhat nervous. To put her at her ease his majesty said, "Oh, Miss —, I want to have a long chat with you, but if I should unfortunately bore you pray tell me so." The king, who was an adroit cross examiner, wished to ascertain the young lady's age, which he had no intention of divulging. "You have already said you were born at —," said the monarch. "May I ask in what year?" "You bore me, sir," was the smiling reply, and his majesty took the checkmate in the greatest good humor.

Laughter and Tears.

One of London's bright young journalists who went to interview Mlle. Sarah Bernhardt recently tried to converse with the great actress in her own language. His French was so bad, however, that at last, in despair, madame switched the conversation into English. She speaks English fairly well, but after a minute or two she made a bad blunder, and the journalist was unable to restrain a smile. "Why do you laugh?" madame asked him. "I'm awfully sorry," he apologized; "but, as a matter of fact, your English made me laugh a little." "Mon Dieu," gasped madame; "my English made you laugh a little! But your French made me weep a lot!"

When the farmer understands that the last strippings of a dairy cow are over 500 per cent. richer in cream than the first few milks he may be a little more thorough in his work during the milking hour.

Test of Greatness. There is no man who has never sacrificed his selfish desire for the sake of some other person, who has never felt a pleasure in undergoing some loss or trouble because it pleased somebody else. It is a truth that man is not a detached being, that he has a universal aspect; and when he recognizes this, he becomes great.—From "Sadhana—The Realization of Life," by Rabindranath Tagore.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

THE SHORT BOLERO-LIKE COAT ONE OF THE NEWEST WHIMS

All the beauty of the gracefully draped peg-top would be lost if a long coat were worn, therefore we have the short coat. The favored model is cutaway in front and forms a rounded point in back. Some are cut with kimono sleeves; others have the set-in sleeve.

The coat shown in 8137 has a set-in, three-quarter sleeve and is slightly draped in front. The material is made of a dull green; the skirt is of duvetyn in the same shade of green. A narrow edge of fur outlining the collar, cuffs and bottom of the coat give a smart touch.

The skirt is a design that may be made in one or two pieces. The fullness is arranged in soft plaits at the waist.

This coat, 8137, may be copied in size 36 with 2 1/2 yards of 42 inch material. The skirt, 8164, requires 2 3/4 yards of 42 inch material for size 24.

An extremely smart design in serge for a young lady is shown in 7843. While it is comparatively simple it is saved from plainness by the yoke on the skirt and the unusual collar. These draped collars are becoming very popular, and one of the newest materials to make them of is white organdie.

Although this material never looks as well after being laundered, it is extremely dainty while fresh, and several chemistesses and collars may be had with each frock.

The long ribbon sash is a pretty touch to a dress of this description. This one is of brocaded velvet ribbon showing several bright colors.

In size 18 this dress may be copied with 4 3/4 yards of 36 inch material with 1 1/4 yards of ribbon for the sash. No. 8137—sizes 34 to 42. No. 8164—sizes 22 to 32. No. 7843—sizes 16, 17 and 18. Each pattern 15 cents.

Of course the word is "sad." This may continue indefinitely, and if the company is a responsive one it is very amusing. After one person has guessed several adjectives have another one go out.

Divisions.

Divide a color in two and get a loud cry and not high. Divide to excavate in two and get beneath and a place where minerals are found.

Divide to dress in two and get a proposition and to weary. Divide a maintenance in two and get to eat and a harbor.

Divide a trial in two and get a conjunction and a business transaction. Divide a piece of jewelry in two and get a part of the body and work which is composed of fine threads.

Answers.—Yellow—yellow. Undermine—undermine. Attire—attire. Support—support. Ordeal—ordel. Necklace—necklace.

World's Coldest Town.

Where the rivers freeze to the bottom and small trees snap off from the biting force of the cold stands the coldest inhabited city in the world—Verkhovsk, in northeastern Siberia.

It is a place of some size, stands 150 feet above the sea level and in winter boasts of a temperature 85 degrees below zero. Its annual average temperature is 3 degrees above zero.

The Russian government owns the town and is interested in having an administrative center where clever and industrious Koksuts, fur trading Jews of Siberia, carry on their operations.—American Woman.

A Strange Family.

An Indiana farmer reports an interesting case of affection between animals. When a horse of the farmer became affected with fodder poisoning recently a family cat became the companion of the sick animal. After the horse's death the cat refused to leave the stall the horse had occupied. Soon afterward it died, and the farmer expressed the belief that its death was caused by grief for the loss of its companion.

The Paper Knife.

Perhaps the earliest mention of a paper knife on record is in Swift's work (1755): "I said to Lord Bolingbroke that the clerks in his office used a sort of ivory knife with a blunt edge to divide a sheet of paper, which never failed to cut it even, only requiring a strong hand, whereas if they should make use of a sharp penknife the sharpness would make it often go out of the crease and disfigure the paper."

How to Grow Tall.

When the company grows weary of idle talk ask some of the boys if they wish to be instructed in the art of looking tall. It is a funny optical illusion that must be tried to be really realized or understood, yet it is very simple. It merely consists in raising the shoulders, and it is astonishing to see how the simple movement will add to the appearance of height.

Secret Places.

I think the fishes make our house. It's full of hiding-places. That one can hide some eels in. Or one's best story books.

Right in our garret 'neath the eaves There's many a handy spot To tuck a note for fairy eyes: I'm going to write a lot.

One little chick right in the roof Is where I mailed a letter Straight to the queen of Fairyland. Could you have found a better?

I know the earlier dove flew down And took it in his bill And flew straight off to Fairyland Over field and wood and hill.

Do I expect an answer soon? Why, yes, of course I do! But when or where or how I'll know I know no more than you.

Money's Voice.

Money talks; but some have an impediment in their income.—Ashley Sterne.

The Scrap Book

Burleson and His Fence.

When Postmaster General Burleson was a member of the house he rushed into his committee room one day and announced that he had at last obtained the iron fence around the old, Pennsylvania station in Washington.

A cub reporter who happened to be present wrote a story about the fence and after stating the facts expressed the opinion that it would soon adorn one of the public parks in Burleson's district in Texas.

The Texas correspondents wired the story to their papers, and soon Burleson was deluged with telegrams.

Encountering the cub reporter, Burleson angrily demanded to know what he had written about the fence.

"What's the matter?" innocently asked the reporter.

"What's the matter?" shouted Burleson. "I paid $125 for that fence at public auction; I paid $100 to have it painted black and have the tops gilded; I paid $75 freight on it to my home in Austin, Tex., where it was to be placed on my home grounds. What's the matter? Why, now I've got to give the consigned thing away!"—Washington Star.

The Little Things of Life.

Around the little things of life. A world of storm and sunshine lies. Yet those too busy seldom see. The tired look in other eyes.

Around the little things of life. A wealth of loving memories center. And joys undreamt of by the world. The humblest dwelling places center.

Around the little things of life. Connected by a thread so slender. Are long lost smiles and bygone tears. Which helped to make our hearts more tender.

Alas, how many things in life. Are those of which we cannot boast! Actions and words we think our best—How poor and weak they are at most!

More full of love, oh, may they be. Less full of self as in the past! Help us, dear Lord, to offer thee. More perfect "little things" at last.

—M. Wayman.

Took Him at His Word.

The late King Edward, who so highly appreciated wit, even when, as sometimes happened, the joke went against himself, was once very neatly "scored off" by a lady whom later he deservedly esteemed for her many good works. She had just been presented to him and was somewhat nervous. To put her at her ease his majesty said, "Oh, Miss —, I want to have a long chat with you, but if I should unfortunately bore you pray tell me so." The king, who was an adroit cross examiner, wished to ascertain the young lady's age, which he had no intention of divulging. "You have already said you were born at —," said the monarch. "May I ask in what year?" "You bore me, sir," was the smiling reply, and his majesty took the checkmate in the greatest good humor.

Laughter and Tears.

One of London's bright young journalists who went to interview Mme. Sarah Bernhardt recently tried to converse with the great actress in her own language. His French was so bad, however, that at last, in despair, madame switched the conversation into English.

She speaks English fairly well, but after a minute or two she made a bad blunder, and the journalist was unable to restrain a smile.

"Why do you laugh?" madame asked him.

"I'm awfully sorry," he apologized; "but, as a matter of fact, your English made me laugh a little."

"Mon Dieu," gasped madame; "my English made you laugh a little! My English made me weep a lot!"

When the farmer understands that the last strippings of a dairy cow are over 500 per cent. richer in cream than the first few milks he may be a little more thorough in his work during the milking hour.

Medical Advertising LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

Medical Advertising Here At Home

Gettysburg Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidently Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Gettysburg citizen:

John A. Tawney, 234 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills, in fact I always keep them in the house. I take a few doses occasionally and they keep my kidneys in good working order. I suffered off and on from pains in the kidneys. I was so lame and stiff that I could hardly get out of bed. Some one advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a supply at the People's Drug Store. It didn't take them long to give me relief. You may continue publishing my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE SHORT BOLERO-LIKE COAT
ONE OF THE NEWEST WHIMS

All the beauty of the gracefully draped peg-top would be lost if a long coat were worn, therefore we have the short coat. The favored model is cutaway in front and forms a rounded point in back. Some are cut with kimono sleeves; others have the set-in sleeve. The coat shown in 8137 has a set-in, three-quarter sleeve and is slightly draped in front. The material is made of velvet in a dull green; the skirt is of duvetyne in the same shade of green. A narrow edge of fur outlining the collar, cuffs and bottom of the coat give a smart touch.

The skirt is a design that may be made in one or two pieces. The fullness is arranged in soft plaits at the waist.

This coat, 8137, may be copied in size 36 with 2 1/4 yards of 42 inch material. The skirt, 8164, requires 2 1/2 yards of 42 inch material for size 24.

An extremely smart design in serge for a young lady is shown in 7843. While it is comparatively simple it is saved from plainness by the yoke on the skirt and the unusual collar. These draped collars are becoming very popular, and one of the newest materials to make them of is white organdie. Although this material never looks as well after being laundered, it is extremely dainty while fresh, and several chemises and collars may be had with each frock.

The long ribbon sash is a pretty touch to a dress of this description. This one is of broad velvet ribbon showing several bright colors.

In size 18 this dress may be copied with 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material with 1 1/2 yards of ribbon for the sash.

No. 8137—sizes 24 to 42.
No. 8164—sizes 22 to 32.
No. 7843—sizes 16, 17 and 18.

Many Gettysburg people who have chronic appendicitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach or constipation. H. C. No More "Black Broth" for Him.

Among the forgotten dishes of the past was the "black broth of Lacedaemon." "What the ingredients of this sabb composition were," says a writer, "we cannot exactly ascertain. Doctor Lister (in 'Apiculus') supposed it to have been hog's blood. It could not be a very alluring mess, since a citizen of Sybaris, having tasted it, declared it was no longer a matter of astonishment with him why the Spartans were so fearless of death, since any one in his senses would much rather die than exist on such execrable food."

To Keep Bacon From Curling.

"But bacon curls up so when it is sliced very thin," protested a young cook when the family objected to thick slices of bacon. The way to avoid that annoying curling is to have the frying pan very hot and turn the slices before the meat sears on the under side and begins to curl. By constant attention and turning the thinnest slices can be broiled brown, crisp and straight.—Nebraska Farmer.

Flea Not Afraid of Water.

Relatively speaking, some fleas are more cruelly armed than the lobster and as strong to resist pressure as the tortoise. One of the rarest specimens in the collection is a flea of the white seal. The seal was brought home by a sea-faring man, who was asked to preserve it along with any parasites which might be found attached to it. In this way a new flea not averse to water was discovered.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Hank O'Day, New Manager of Chicago Cubs.

Hank O'Day, new manager of the Chicago Cubs, says that he intends to be lenient with his charges and as a starter will allow them two or three cigarettes a day and a glass of beer now and then.

The only rule that Hank has laid down strictly is that every player must be in bed at 11 sharp. He believes that sleep and plenty of it will bring a championship to Chicago in a year or so.

Good Start For Racing.

When the racing season opens at Belmont park, New York, this spring, signalled by the Metropolitan handicap, it is likely that as good a field as ever started in this classic will go to the post. Such are the indications from a glance over the list of aspirants' first blade public by the Westchester racing association. Sixty-nine horses of class have been entered for this mile contest, including so many fine performers that there is no reason to fear that the list of past winners will lose in tone by the addition of this season's victor.

Jeff Livingston's Iron Mask seems likely to be top weight in the Metropolitan, but will be closely pressed by other turf stars which proved their worth last year. Harry Payne Whitney has named six horses for the Metropolitan, five of which raced in England last year. Probably the best one of the quietest is Borrow, a six-year-old son of Hambleton-Forrest and a full brother to Dreamer, the sprinter which raced so brilliantly some seasons back under the silks of Herian R. Duryea.

Derby For Greyhounds.

The Waterloo cup, the English Derby for greyhounds, was won by Dilwyn, a fawn dog nominated by A. F. Pope. The runner up was Leuceryx, a black puppy nominated by Major Robert McCalmont. Both bounds were outsiders, the betting before the courses were run being 20 to 1 against Dilwyn and 50 to 1 against Leuceryx.

The courting took place over the famous flats of the Altair club. The winner takes the cup, valued at $500, given by the Earl of Sefton, and a prize of $2,500.

The event is open to sixty-four subscribers at $25 each and is run off in five rounds.

Stahl to Remain in Bank.

Directors of the bank in which he is interested have prevailed upon Jake Stahl to give up baseball. The former leader of the Red Sox announced that he would stick to the banking business. He had been criticised by Ben Johnson for tampering with Speaker. He says his decision is not due to Johnson's attitude, but to his own judgment that his future in the bank is a better guarantee of prosperity than cavorting on the diamond.

England Appeals For Olympic Fund.

The British Olympic committee has decided to make another appeal for a fund of $200,000 to provide effective representation at the Olympic games to be held at Berlin in 1916. Recently the Duke of Westminster's Olympic fund committee, which aspired to raise $500,000 through national subscription for the same purpose, resigned, having failed of its purpose.

New Player For Yankees.

Of the recommendations of Fritz Mahel the Yankees have signed John Sullivan, a young second baseman, who played semipro ball for the Buffalo last year. Mahel claims his protégé is faster than himself. Sullivan batted .400 last season.

Catcher Wilson Quits Giants.

Arthur Wilson, second string catcher with the New York Nationals last year, has become a member of the Toronto Federal league team.

MAKING A HOTBED.

Before long now it will be time to make the hotbed. It should be located where it will be protected from cold winds and where it will catch as much sunshine as possible. The bed can be made the sooner if the pit for it was dug before freeze-up and the necessary soil secured and put where it would not freeze. The pit should be from a foot to eighteen inches deep and the frame to hold up the sash should be about six inches high on the south side and sixteen inches high at the back side, the sash being beveled to fit the sash. The pit should be filled with fresh horse manure containing some straw, which will heat readily. It is well to water it thoroughly after it is put in the pit and to allow the heating process to get well under way before putting in the soil. This should be a rich mellow loam if possible and should be four or five inches deep over the manure, which should be leveled and pressed down before the soil is put in. Before the seeds are planted the temperature should have fallen to about 70 to 75 degrees F., which can be determined by inserting a thermometer after the sash has been put in place. To get the best results the bed should be watered frequently and ventilated by raising the sash on warm days. If the bed is made early care should be taken to have a covering of hay, straw or old cornstaple handy for cold snaps. A good many hotbeds disappoint because they are too hot and have too little moisture. Before transferring plants to the open ground when milder weather comes, it is well to leave the sash off for several days in order to harden the little plants. Early radish and lettuce may be grown in the hotbed; also cabbages, early cabbage and cauliflower, tomatoes, peppers, eggplant and pausy plants.

THE WORST FRUIT PEST.

The citrus fruit growing industry of the United States, and this applies at present chiefly to California and Florida, stands in great peril of extermination unless a rock ribbed quarantine is maintained against foreign fruit that is infested with the maggot of the Mediterranean fruit fly, known to entomologists as Ceratitis capitata. The fly is about the size of the common housefly, yellow in color, with eyes of a reddish purple tint and with a blackish blotch in the center of the forehead, from which spring two bristles. The eggs of the insect are often laid at from six to twelve inches underground, and no liquid has been found that will kill the maggot that does not at the same time kill the foliage of the plant or tree upon which it happens to be feeding. The maggots have been known to survive a half hour bath in spirits and in kerosene oil. The most dreaded feature of this pest is that it works solely from the inside of the fruit, while the outside is apparently all right. While the fly is partial to citrus fruits, it also feeds on peaches and other fruits and also vegetables. The fly came originally from the fruit districts of the Mediterranean, but has spread to New Zealand, Australia, the Hawaiian Islands and even Bermuda. An illustration of the devastation which follows its coming is shown in case of one of the islands of the Hawaiian group, where the fruit growing industry was wrecked within a year after it put in an appearance.

TWO IMPORTANT FACTORS.

A hog raiser with whom the writer was talking the other day said that his hogs had not been hit with cholera for more than twenty years and this in spite of the fact that many of his neighbors had sustained severe losses. He referred to two features in connection with the care he gave his hogs that may have had a good deal to do with their freedom from disease, and the writer is inclined to the opinion that the points mentioned do not receive the attention they deserve from the average farmer. Our friend said these hogs had a pure spring as the source of their water supply throughout the year, while in feeding them—and this was particularly during the warmer months—he always fed them in a new and clean place. It would be interesting to know just how many of the ills that swine suffer from they contract simply because they are hogs and also how many they fall victims to because they are compelled to exist under insanitary conditions.

SETTING WINDBREAKS.

The United States forest service has issued a bulletin containing the following suggestions for those who are planning to set out windbreaks in the spring: Place the windbreak at right angles to the direction of the injurious prevailing winds; devote from one-eighth to one-fifth of the farm to timber; plant only varieties of trees suited to windbreak use to the region and to the locality; plant rapid growers for quick results, but underplant with slower growing species that are usually longer lived and more valuable; supplement a deciduous windbreak with evergreens to afford protection in winter; separate trees by spacing properly for the species used; make the windbreak thick from the bottom up, especially on the sides exposed to the wind; cultivate the plantation thoroughly while it is young; do not allow excess sive grazing where reproduction is desired and do not thin the wood lot too heavily or take out the best trees for minor uses.

Jerome's Mistake.

One of the early vicissitudes of Jerome K. Jerome as an actor was to be offered his choice of playing the part of either an ass, a donkey, or a pig in a pantomime. A real donkey, with four legs. After careful consideration he thought the real one, the pig, becoming disgraced and chose the part of the soldier. Apparently he made a mistake, for at events, for a few days afterward the manager came to him and said: "You made a great mistake, Jerome. It would just suit you, and there's 5 shillings a week more in it."

Shocking Impolite.

No Wonder He Was Snubbed by the Dignified Policeman.

The policeman of Montevideo, Uruguay, are mostly of Indian origin. They are not particularly well dressed, impressive or intelligent, but they are always courteous and polite, while they are great sticklers for etiquette. Through ignorance of their customs a foreigner sometimes finds himself in an embarrassing situation. One day last summer a well-dressed American gentleman stepped up to a policeman in the Plaza Independencia and said in very good Spanish: "Will you please tell me where the Calle Rincon is?"

The policeman looked haughtily at the stranger and turned away.

The American tried again, with still more courtesy:

"Would you be so extremely kind as to very accommodatingly tell me where the Calle Rincon is?"

To his astonishment the policeman retorted:

"You have no manners, sir."

Needless to say, the American was quite abashed, but he had to find the Calle Rincon, so he put the question to a Spanish youth who was standing near. The youth answered very cordially and went some little distance to direct the stranger properly. After the American had thanked him he asked:

"Why did the policeman refuse to answer me?"

"Because," replied the youth, "when you addressed him you committed a great breach of etiquette. You neglected to take off your hat and make a bow."—Youth's Companion.

Temper.

Losing one's temper means losing peace of spirit, losing clearness of thought, losing grasp of the situation and usually losing the respect of bystanders.

Temper.

Losing one's temper means losing peace of spirit, losing clearness of thought, losing grasp of the situation and usually losing the respect of bystanders.

Would Follow His Example.

After the battle of Prestonpans a witty Scottish farmer amused himself by writing a ballad upon it, which so stung one of the English officers, who had behaved very badly on the occasion, that he sent the poet a challenge to meet him at 11 for mortal combat.

The second found the farmer busy with his bayonet and at once delivered the challenge of the redoubtable hero.

The good natured farmer, turning toward him with the agricultural implement, coolly said:

"Gang awa' back to Mester Smith and tell him I hae nae time to come to it, to gie him satisfaction, but that if he likes to come here I'll tak' a look at him, and if I think I can fecht (fight) him I'll fecht him, and if I think I cannot fecht him I'll just do as he did—I'll run away."

Her Footsteps.

A clever actor was playing the role of the heavy villain in melodrama and was working as hard as he could as the best scene in the play. He had just finished the consultation with the low comedy villain, which occurs in all properly conducted melodramas, and had spoken the cue for the heroine's entrance: "Away! She comes! I hear her footsteps!"

As he made this speech the property man accidentally dropped a sixteen pound shot down the staircase which led to the dressing rooms. There was a succession of deliberate crashes, which resembled the heavy footsteps of a giant, and the audience saw the ludicrous side of the situation at once.

The actor stood rooted to the spot, bursting with suppressed laughter and not knowing what to do. The leading lady was unfortunately somewhat stout and, on hearing the noise, refused to make her entrance, vowing that the whole thing had been arranged for the purpose of insulting her. Entrances and threats had no effect; she remained obdurate, and the curtain had to be rung down and the audience dismissed. The leading lady left the company the next morning.

Fun For the Librarian.

In "open access" libraries, where borrowers are admitted to the shelves to choose their own books, it is usual to affix to the ends of the book stacks guide cards showing the contents of each stack. Works of fiction being generally arranged in alphabetical order, cards showing the first and last names of the sequence of authors are all that are necessary. Once in a library the first card happened to be "Piction—About to Burgh." The first and last authors being Edmond About and G. B. Burgin.

Well, a lady came in, passed the time of day with the assistant, and catching sight of this particular guide card, remarked, "What a funny notice, 'Piction about to begin.'"—Book Monthly.

Sincerity.

I should say sincerity, a deep, great, genuine sincerity, is the first characteristic of all men in any way heroic.—Carlyle.

She Had Tried.

"Papa, mamma said that once the half lives." "Well, she shouldn't blame herself, dear. It isn't her fault."

Water Stains on Furniture.

To remove water stains from varnished furniture pour olive oil into a dish and scrape a little white wax into it. This mixture should be heated until the wax melts, then rubbed sparingly on the stains. Finally rub the surface with a soft linen rag until it is restored to brilliancy.

Removing Paint From Glass.

Take acetic acid and dilute it one-half in hot water, then apply to the paint spots on the glass while it is warm. Rub it off if it gets too chilled. The hot acid will not hurt the glass, but the cold acid will. It must be kept from children.

No More "Black Broth" for Him.

Among the forgotten dishes of the past was the "black broth of Lacedaemon." "What the ingredients of this sabbath composition were," says a writer, "we cannot exactly ascertain. Doctor Lister (in 'Apichus') supposed it to have been hog's blood."

It could not be a very alluring mess, since a citizen of Sybaris, having tasted it, declared it was no longer a matter of astonishment with him why the Spartans were so fearless of death, since any one in his senses would much rather die than exist on such execrable food."

To Keep Bacon From Curling.

"But bacon curls up so when it is sliced very thin," protested a young cook when the family objected to thick slices of bacon. The way to avoid that annoying curling is to have the frying pan very hot and turn the slices before the meat sears on the under side and begins to curl. By constant attention and turning the thinnest slices can be broiled brown, crisp and straight.—Nebraska Farmer.

Flea Not Afraid of Water.

Relatively speaking, some fleas are more cruelly armed than the lobster and as strong to resist pressure as the tortoise. One of the rarest specimens in the collection is a flea of the white seal. The seal was brought home by a sea-faring man, who was asked to preserve it along with any parasites which might be found attached to it. In this way a new flea not averse to water was discovered.

To the Middle-Aged.

Say to yourself that you are entering upon the autumn of your life; that the graces of spring and the splendors of summer are irrevocably gone, but that autumn weather is often darkened by rain, cloud and mist, but the air is still soft, and the sun still delights the eyes, and touches the yellowing leaves, caressingly; it is the time for fruit, for harvest, for the vintage, the moment for making provision for the winter.—Amiel's Journal.

SETTING WINDBREAKS.

The United States forest service has issued a bulletin containing the following suggestions for those who are planning to set out windbreaks in the spring: Place the windbreak at right angles to the direction of the injurious prevailing winds; devote from one-eighth to one-fifth of the farm to timber; plant only varieties of trees suited to windbreak use to the region and to the locality; plant rapid growers for quick results, but underplant with slower growing species that are usually longer lived and more valuable; supplement a deciduous windbreak with evergreens to afford protection in winter; separate trees by spacing properly for the species used; make the windbreak thick from the bottom up, especially on the sides exposed to the wind; cultivate the plantation thoroughly while it is young; do not allow excess grazing where reproduction is desired and do not thin the wood lot too heavily or take out the best trees for minor uses.

THE WORST FRUIT PEST.

The citrus fruit growing industry of the United States, and this applies at present chiefly to California and Florida, stands in great peril of extermination unless a rock ribbed quarantine is maintained against foreign fruit that is infested with the maggots of the Mediterranean fruit fly, known to entomologists as Coronitis capitata. The fly is about the size of the common housefly, yellow in color, with eyes of a reddish purple tint and with a blackish blotch in the center of the forehead, from which spring two bristles. The eggs of the insect are often laid at from six to twelve inches underground, and no liquid has been found that will kill the maggot that does not at the same time kill the foliage of the plant or tree upon which it happens to be feeding. The maggots have been known to survive a half hour bath in spirits and in kerosene oil. The most dreaded feature of this pest is that it works solely from the inside of the fruit, while the outside is apparently all right. While the fly is partial to citrus fruits, it also feeds on peaches and other fruits and also vegetables. The fly came originally from the fruit districts of the Mediterranean, but has spread to New Zealand, Australia, the Hawaiian Islands and even Bermuda. An illustration of the devastation which follows its coming is shown in case of one of the islands of the Hawaiian group, where the fruit growing industry was wrecked within a year after it put in an appearance.

TWO IMPORTANT FACTORS.

A hog raiser with whom the writer was talking the other day said that his hogs had not been hit by cholera for more than twenty years and this in spite of the fact that many of his neighbors had sustained severe losses. He referred to two features in connection with the care he gave his hogs that may have had a good deal to do with their freedom from disease, and the writer is inclined to the opinion that the points mentioned do not receive the attention they deserve from the average farmer. One friend said these hogs had a pure spring as the source of their water supply throughout the year, while in feeding them—and this was particularly during the warmer months—he always fed them in a new and clean place. It would be interesting to know just how many of the ills that swine suffer from they contract simply because they are hogs and also how many they fall victims to because they are compelled to exist under insanitary conditions.

STRAIGHT SIMPLE LINES LEND GRACE TO THIS DINNER GOWN

Now that flowered materials are so much favored, for both daytime and evening wear, designers have been evolving methods of employing them to the best advantage. The puffs and panniers are apt to spoil the patterns somewhat, so the preferred models show long, loose arrangements of soft folds about the waist. Number 8215, is a dinner gown of broadened silk crepe with a transparent bodice of chiffon and figured net. These crepes are unusually wide and range in price from $1.50 a yard and up. This gown may be copied in size 36 with 3 1/2 yards of 42 inch material, with 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for the gumpie.

Numbers 8196-8117, is another effective example of a transparent bodice and tunic. The three-tiered skirt has contrasting tunics of chiffon and lace over a foundation of charmeuse.

To make this gown in size 36, it requires 1 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for the bodice (8196 and 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material for the skirt (8117).

Number 8215—size 34 to 44.
Number 8196—size 34 to 42.
Number 8117—size 22 to 34.
Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

Forget to Collect Their Money.

The British government every year reaps a huge profit from the people who forget their own government stock when dividends fall due. The fault rests entirely with the stockholders for they even forget to give their addresses, so that they can be notified that money awaits them in the government coffers. In this case, about $5,000,000 is passed on to the national debt commission, and in turn it receives the interest from this money.

Justice in Hayti.

The theft of governmental funds in Hayti is very common. If one of the subjects or officials is caught in the act, or even suspected along such a line, it is merely a question whether he lives or dies. In such cases the president drops clay manikins on the cement floor of his private office. If the mannikin breaks the prisoner dies. If it fails to break he lives as long as the moist atmosphere of the prison he is confined in will let him.

ART MUSEUMS CLOSED TO PUBLIC

British Treasures Locked Up Owing to Slashing.

MRS. PANKHURST IS ILL

Militant Leader Is Removed to Prison Infirmary as Result of Her Seventh Hunger Strike.

London, March 12.—The damaging of the famous Velasquez painting known as the "Rokeby Venus," in the National Art Gallery, by a suffragette will bar American and other tourists from seeing many of England's art treasures during the coming season.

The lord chamberlain announced that the state apartments in Windsor Castle would be closed "until further orders." A similar notice was issued by the trustees of the National Gallery and of the celebrated Wallace art collection.

Kensington Palace and Hampton Court Palace, which are visited yearly by thousands of foreigners, also closed their doors and the $20,000,000 collection of Oriental porcelains and bronzes bequeathed to the South Kensington Museum in 1909 by the late George Saitling, has been locked up.

The closing of the public art galleries was the subject of a question in the house of commons. Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in reply promised to confer with the authorities in order to see whether it was not possible to arrange for efficient police protection so as to avoid the complete closing of public institutions.

The custodians of all public art treasures were in a state of panic, as heretofore every fresh suffragette demonstration has been followed by imitations. There is apprehension that other women armed with hatchets may be abroad. Large forces of special guards have been placed on patrol duty in the British and South Kensington Museums.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, who was arrested in Glasgow in the middle of a riot, brought to London and placed in the Holloway jail, began her seventh hunger strike, Mrs. Pankhurst refused to eat food placed before her, and upon orders from the home office no attempt was made at forcible feeding.

At the offices of the Women's Social and Political Union it was predicted that both Mrs. Pankhurst and Miss Richardson will be at liberty within ten days.

As a result of the lack of nourishment and the excitement attending her arrest, Mrs. Pankhurst became so ill that she had to be removed to the prison infirmary.

$17,500 VERDICT TO WORKMAN

Wins Damages Against Brewing Company For Injuries From Truck. Philadelphia, March 12.—A verdict in favor of George Ortleb against the P. A. Poth Brewing company for $17,500 per personal injuries received as the result of negligence, was returned by a jury before Judge McMichael.

Ortleb was sent to the brewery to make repairs to a vat in March, 1910. At the time there was a trolley strike, and it was the custom of the brewing company to send its workmen home every evening in motor trucks.

Ortleb was told to get on the truck if he wanted to go home with the other workmen, and as he went to do so the truck was backed against him, pinning him against the wall, crushing both legs and otherwise injuring him. His left leg had to be amputated near the knee and his right foot was made useless.

Two More British Flyers Killed.

Salisbury, Eng., March 12.—Two more officers of the British army flying corps were killed here. Captain C. R. W. Allen, of the Welsh regiment, and Lieutenant J. E. G. Burroughs, of the Wiltshire regiment, while flying over the military aerodrome on Salisbury Plain were hurled to the ground from a high altitude owing to the collapse of their aeroplanes.

Engine Kills Tremont Boy.

Want Wilson to Aid "Mother Jones."

Rumors That He Will Retire From Supreme Bench Denied.

Ex-President Taft, denied in New Haven a report that he would accept a position on the bench of the United States supreme court, although it was long his ambition to hold such a place. It was rumored that Taft would be asked to fill the vacancy to be caused by the contemplated resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of Massachusetts. Justice Holmes does not contemplate retiring at this time.

GIRL WAS "KIDNAPED" AND NOW IS MARRIED

Father Slashed Man Accused of Carrying Her Off.

Norristown, Pa., March 12.—The Elitton, Md., dispatch that Joseph Granes and Jennie Picard, of Norristown, had been married, marks the climax of events following the abduction of the girl in Norristown, Feb. 7.

Either Joseph Granes or his cousin were believed to be responsible, but nothing could be proved. It is said that the marriage of the couple was opposed by the girl's father.

Jennie Picard, seventeen years old, was kidnapped after her young brother was frightened away from her side on a road near Norristown.

When the boy told his father that he recognized the wagon as belonging to Granes, the father sought out the man, who denied any knowledge of the whereabouts of the girl.

Picard stabbed him in the groin and fled. He was captured by his victim's father, who pursued him with a shotgun. Picard later was liberated on bail.

CHINESE BRIGANDS SACK TOWN

Kill Foreign Missionary, Wound Another and Apply Torch to City.

Pekin, March 12.—Five hundred Chinese brigands swept down upon Lon-Ho-Kow, in Hupeh province, sacked the town, killed a foreign missionary, wounded another and employed 2000 coolies to carry off their loot.

Much foreign property was also destroyed by the brigands, who applied the torch to the city when they made their departure.

The outlaws attacked the stockade before dawn, surprising the garrison. While some plundered private residences, others sacked banks and business houses.

One detachment attacked the Norwegian mission, where a number of Christianized Chinese had taken refuge. Dr. T. Freyland was put to death and Rev. O. M. Sama was fatally wounded. Many Chinese were tortured to death.

Saved by Bursting Bottle.

The bursting of a bottle of soda water saved by the family of Mr. J. G. Grant, who reside in Silver street, Colchester, England, from death by fire. A loud report awoke the occupants of the house in the early hours of the other morning. There was smoke in their rooms, and a search revealed the fact that an oaken beam beneath a bedroom floor was on fire. The sodawater bottle which acted as a fire alarm had been placed on a shelf near the beam, and had exploded when it became hot.

Looking Backward.

He was not very sober and had ridden for an hour or two in the taxi-cab when the chauffeur stopped. "How much do I owe?" asked the passenger. "Eighteen shillings and sixpence, sir," was the reply. There was a pause; then: "Well, look here, driver," said the passenger. "Just back up and keep going backward till you come to two shillings—it's all I've got."—London Mail.

Woolly Lamb, Pins and Needles.

Do you know that a useful accessory for the nursery can be made from a woolly toy lamb about five inches long? Encircle the length of its body with an inch-wide ribbon divided into pockets for thimble, paper of needles, bodkin and tiny scissors. Hang a tiny emery around the animal's neck and use its woolly body for holding safety pins.

Never Again.

Said the man with the concave fa-cial expression to his philosopher friend: "Don't ever again tell me that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, for since my wife has joined three debating societies, two bridge clubs and private dancing class, that hand is mine."—Exchange.

POULTRY MEN

White Leghorn Eggs, Indian Runner Duck Eggs, Black Oil Disinfectant, Dew-berry and Straw-berry Plants.

Dear Sir: We sell Black Oil Disinfectant and Eggs for Hatching. We have a Heavy Laying Strain of White Leghorns. They are great winter layers; in one pen of 250 hens we gathered 100 eggs each day during December, 1912. Just he strain to get new blood in your flock; a setting or two will start you in winter layers. Why not feed the kind that pay? We will send you 12 eggs for $1 prepaid or 15 eggs for $1 if you come to the farm.

We also sell Indian Runner Duck Eggs for Hatching. This strain is com-posed of three different strains, which assures Good Hatches and Strong Quicks. They are good layers—have true markings. 12 eggs for $1 prepaid, 15 eggs at the farm.

If you don't get more than six fer-ile eggs we will replace the setting for half the cost of the first.

We have prepared Black Oil Acid for disinfecting purposes; have used it for several years and find it the best thing on the market, and we decided to give others the benefit of it. The fumes kill lice and all kinds of disease germs; the heavy oil makes a lasting disinfectant. Paint it on the roosts or sprinkle on floors, or add to coal oil and spray through house several times a year. Sprinkle it in coops, brooders, pigeon lofts, etc. Prevents gaps and roup in peeps. Since using it lice and disease never get ahead of us; it will do the same for you. Try it. Directions with can.

Price—25c per quart, 40c a half gallon, 6c a gallon. F. O. B. Littlestown, Pa.

We have thousands of Dew-berry and Strawberry Plants for sale. $1 per 100 prepaid by parcel post or 60c at the farm. The kind that will fill your fruit jars.

"BREAKING HOME TIES"

That was the title of a picture in the art display at the St. Louis World's Fair some years ago. The crowd longed before it because it portrayed an experience in their own lives. What a heart-rending time for both the boy and the home folks!

That experience is being re-enacted daily in hundreds of homes scattered over the Keystone State. How lone-some the young man feels those first few days in the crowded city streets looking for work where no one knows him! How lonesome in his room during the first few days at college away from home and friends! If you can think back to a similar experience in your own life you know what mingled emotions are surging in the lonesome ad's breast. No wonder some of them sell shipwreck for the lad! Compan-ionship at such a time means much. Friendship is what he craves most just then.

The State Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association through-its County Work Department by means of the Corresponding Member-ship System is meeting this need. Over 1200 young men have been fol-lowed through this "Breaking Home Ties" experience and introduced to Christian influences in their new sur-roundings.

Mr. Earl Hartman has been re-ap-pointed Corresponding Member for Sellersville, Penna. and the ensuing year. Be sure and send him word should your boy or your neighbor be planning to leave home. The State Young Men's Christian Association, Calder Building, Harrisburg, Pa., ovets the opportunity of serving him.

Fulness of Life.

Every year I live I am more con-vinced that the waste of life lies in the love we have not given, the pow-ers we have not used, the selfish pru-dence that will risk nothing and which, shirking pain, misses happi-ness as well. No one ever yet was the poorer in the long run for hav-ing once in a lifetime "let out all the length of the reins."—Matthew Ar-nold.

Heels Shifted.

How to get your money's worth out of rubber heels: When the heels wear down on one side pry them off with a screwdriver or strong shears. Go easy, get the nails up with the rubber. Take the right and place on left shoe. Get the points of the nails in the same holes. They fit. That brings the heel down on the outside. Now hammer it down. Do the same thing with the other shoe.

Many Good New Things.

"There is nothing new under the sun" is a statement true only of evil things, the fruits of ignorance and in-experience. Good things that are new come in with every generation, never in such abundance as in the opening years of the twentieth century.—The Christian Register.

Quite a Difference.

"A wife gets a third of her hus-band's property, doesn't she?" "No." "Why, I thought the law gave that to a man's wife." "No; only to his widow."—Baltimore American.
